The first jitney bus appeared in London in 1830. It ran by steam power and carried 28 passengers inside and 22 outside. Railroads prevented its operation by securing the passage of a law requiring each bus to keep a man 100 yards in advance with a red flag by day and a red lantern at night.

COUNCIL ORDERS PROBE OF THE ABORTION PARLORS

An investigation of the swell abortion parlors of the city and places where one can purchase "little red pills for ladies" was ordered by the city council last night. Ald. W. O. Nance, head of the health committee, today outlined a plan of operations against the "professional murderers."

The Anna Johnson case, in which a poor girl was found dead in the home of Dr. Eva Shaver, with a bullet in her head, brought the matter up. An examination showed that she was the victim of a criminal operation and death was a few hours off when hastened by a bullet.

The sale of tansy, pennyroyal and other drugs dispensed by quacks to produce abortions should carry a written report to the police department was a suggestion which will be considered by the health committee.

The health body meeting at 2 p. m. Thursday will be used to take action upon the council order and a rigid quest for professional abortionists will be mapped out.

WILSON PLANS TO BE SURE OF WHAT COUNTRY WANTS

Washington, June 2. — President Wilson's proposed new note to Germany hung fire today. He conferred with Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador, and perused memoranda compiled by members of cabinet setting forth their views. Hundreds of telegrams from leading Americans throughout the country were constantly arriving and being sent directly to the white house study at the president's request.

It was the president's intention, those closest to him declared, to be fully cognizant of just what the country really wants before he personally drafts the outline of the rejoinder that may mean peace or war, depending entirely on how Germany views it.
